

One of the biggest events is about to happen.

We have all heard about Cannabis oil being the miracle cure for cancer. Dozens of opportunity seekers have created recipes based on hearsay, gossip and research. Desperate cancer patients have paid hundreds of thousands on the black market in the hope that it may work.

Now someone has the correct recipe

I have tried, tested, tasted and experienced it. I have talked to dozens of people who have benefited from it but not in the way you are thinking. Here is the story.

Back in the 80's I met some-one who has cured himself of cancer in 6 weeks using age old remedies used by New Zealand Maoris, American Indians and English Gypsies. I was so impressed I promoted his story for many years in America, Europe and Africa.

I took or sent the recipe to 147 Cancer research clinics world-wide. Not one would even test it. Mainly funded by the big Pharmaceutical companies they didn't want a cure that could be grown in your back garden..... Very sad but true.

I have followed progress over the years and recent scientific studies have found that there are huge benefits in using "Cannabinoids" found in certain types of Cannabis plants.

And the biggest surprise they have found is that the human body produces cannabinoids which has many many health benefits. Human breast milk as an example they now know naturally contains many of the same cannabinoids found in Marijuana, which are vital for proper human development.

They also know that Cannabinoids are the stepping stone to help cure over 1 092 (?) known diseases..... including Cancer..... that's unbelievable but true.

The USA (who claims there is no medicinal value in Cannabis) has already produced synthetic cannabinoids (Even one that contains the real stuff) to stop nausea from chemotherapy and to fight Multiple sclerosis.

The fight is now on to legalise medical Cannabinoids – but here is the nice part – cannabinoids have been found not only in marijuana, and people today can buy amazing "Health products" without flying high on Cannabis.

My first experience had some nice side effects too – my body became healthier, more efficient, energy levels rose and I lost weight without even trying.

There is much more to it than this. How it works, why it works and proof that it works. If you want to know more send me your contact details and I will keep you in the loop.

Cannabinoids

Our bodies produce chemicals that allows our Brain cells to communicate with each other and send messages through the body to help regulate everything we feel, think, and do.

They are called cannabinoids

Scientists have now identified a similar communications system in the ingredients in Marijuana. This system however communicates its messages in a different way because it works “backwards.”.....they are created on demand which affects how messages are sent, received, and processed.
